

Sounds of the South Records Discography

Sounds of the South was a label owned by Al Kooper (formerly backing musician for Bob Dylan and member of the Blues Project and Blood, Sweat & Tears). He started the label in 1972 when he moved to Atlanta and bought into Buddy Buie's studio there. He signed Mose Jones and Lynyrd Skynyrd, and then Elijah and the Blues Project. The label was distributed by MCA from the start, and by 1974, Kooper sold the label outright to MCA.
